V. AN ONGOING PROCESS

The plan provides guidance for the district for a three-year period. The Chancellor’s Cabinet will monitor progress on an annual basis and will sponsor comprehensive plan updates at the end of the three-year cycle.

The cabinet will facilitate the involvement and participation of all constituencies in updating the plan. A participatory planning process will facilitate the exchange of information throughout the institution, and develop planning priorities that reflect the concerns and insights of people throughout the district.

The cabinet will consider several guiding principles in coordinating strategic planning, including participation by all constituencies and locations; continuity of districtwide planning; multiple information and feedback options; and use of district research and planning resources.

The district will coordinate its many planning processes with strategic planning. Information and analyses from several sources will be included in the strategic planning discussions, including:

• Accreditation self study;
• Program review;
• College planning; and
• Budget development and implementation.
